Please comment on the strengths and weaknesses of the course.

Connects to economics well, and is fairly simple and straightforward.
The strength of the course was in the teaching and the setup of the problem sets, and the weakness of the course was that it was a little fast-paced because it is only half a semester.
The problem sets and review were great, at some points the notes could become overwhelming.
I think the course was very well structured. I knew exactly what the expectations were and the pace was not too fast. The material helped me brush up on my knowledge of basic calculus and will be helpful when I take Econ 110. One thing I think can be improved is materials to help us practice outside of the class. The problem sets were very helpful in preparing for the quiz but I felt it would be helpful if we were given some videos from khan academy or other educational sources to also help us prepare.
one strength is that the course covered lots of useful skills that is needed for later courses, however because the class is so short a lot of the material was rushed.
It taught a lot about economics or at least the mathematics of it. Coming from a background not knowing anything, no struggles with catching up to lectures or assignments.
The course is a good refresh to calc and is a good starting class for econ majors
Work was challenging but made quizzes easier
It was a very exceptional introduction course to economics, as well as being a helpful refresher for calculus.
The amount of
I felt that the course was very well planned and there was good time for all assignments
I think that the course is a good set up for the basic calculus needed in ECON.

Connected well with the exams, Professor was easily accessible outside of class, Professor was enthusiastic.
The professor was always willing to go over questions again, but he did move a little quickly.
A lot of information at one time but he was very helpful with explanations if needed.
The professor did a great job of always checking in and making sure we felt prepared. I did not feel left behind in the class because the professor always encouraged questions and also the opportunity to work with him independently during office hours.
I think the teaching was good considering the time constraint, and Tyler was very willing to help outside of class.
Professor Porter was respectable, showed interest in wanting us to learn more about economics and made class fun.
I think the teaching was very well and helped a lot with the overall understanding
All around very solid and helpful
Really enjoyed Professor Porter as a teacher. For me, I believed he was a very effective communicator.
Sometimes the pace was very fast during class. But he was extremely helpful and easy to meet with if that was the case.
I felt that the teaching was really good and he took the time to make sure everyone understood the material
I think the teacher did a good job.
